
the \"admin\" (stig)

Posted by scooter - 2005/10/07 19:49

So, I heard that the Stig never smiles. He is really a crime fighter that we cram into the back shed and feed raw meat. But yet others claim he is a crime fighter, yet others claim he is the "big meanie".

I personally think that he is born from an engine of a old english race car and mother earth.....

But then again, who knows....

My friends think he is just a t-shirt icon... but I'm not so sure.

Maybe he just wants to grunt and change the subject..... but what do i know? I just fill out the insurance forms.

Hi Scooter,

Do you have time to check these 2) things?

1) What is the best & quickest way to leave the forum after posting a response?

Was wondering why I get a message when I try to leave a forum saying the information is cached and may be lost or resent depending on if I say ok or cancel. Do you know what I'm talking about? It delays my navigation out of the forum.

2) What is the best & quickest way to just logout of wormdigest? Is it not possible to logout from any page? I get another message about being in a private area of information. This also is klunky. I have been pressing the back arrow, should I got to "home" instead? I thought I saw a logout as a possible option

I apologize for these user type questions. I am a cocoon when it comes to computers, so far.

Thanks for letting me know, when you can!

Maureen

To navigate anywhere else from the forum, click on any of the links in the navigation bar on the left hand side of your browser. Using the forward and back browser buttons may cause actions to be repeated that are associated with that page (like posting or editing).

To logout at any time click on "logout" in the navbar on the left.

OK,

I'll go to the nav bar on the left instead of using the back arrows.

Thanks Scooter!
