Regarding your Polls:

I laughed at the last freak girl eating the earthworm. And I have to tell you I found it amusing watching the voting results.

But the reason I am posting this note is because I was bad today. I was very, very bad.

I clicked on your link to see the girl holding the big worm. I know the answer. I really actually know the answer to your poll question.

But, instead of clearly pressing the correct button to submit my answer, the little mischievous school boy deep inside me hit the answer that provoked a big grin.

Thank you for making me laugh today.
