
New Flower Book

Posted by Patricia Wright - 2007/02/25 23:15

Hello all,

I was reading the Latest News section tonight on the Home Page and noticed the article about Amy Stewart's new book. I have read it and agree with the review. Amy did write a very nice book on the flower industry.

The flower industry is huge and Amy describes it in her new book.

It is wonderful to read how well rounded Amy is after her last book which was dedicated to earthworms. I am sure many of you are aware her last book; The Earth Moved.

<http://www.worndigest.org/content/view/347/2/>

Patricia

=====

Re:New Flower Book

Posted by Andy Dufresne - 2007/03/03 22:36

Hey Patricia

I read Amy's flower book last week. It was pretty good. But, I also read another book on earthworms. It was called "Composting with Worms", by George Pilkington.

George's book was 123 pages and it reads well. He is from the United Kingdom. Patricia, I thought that was were you were from, so I thought you might want to look into finding his book and reading it.

Andy

=====