
Broker? Sell?

Posted by HomePapa - 2007/09/24 11:39

I am concerned with all the guaranteed buy back systems. I am not personally into finding retail outlet to sell. I am looking for brokers. Someone who will buy whatever worms I have at broker prices. I am not trying to get rich. I enjoy growing worms, but do not enjoy trying to market them for top dollar. Can anyone steer me to some reputable brokers. Thanks.

Most anyone selling a lot of worms will be looking for someone to buy more worms from if they think that they can depend on you to ship to their customers with a live delivery guarentee and accurate weights. A worm seller in California would love to have someone over on the east coast to ship worms to the east coast area. cheaper and better chance of live delivery. Contact some in an area far away from you and see if they need some help. Try Bob at Trinity worms.
